

Abstract of the Disclosure:

In order to correct a white defect on a surface of a substrate, the substrate is held with the surface facing downward, laser light is upward irradiated at the defect on the surface in material gas, and as a result, the white defect is covered with film.